INTEREST GROWS IN HUTTON WILL CASE

Father, at least he was knocking around then.

Up to the 22nd of September, the date of the Wabamun fair, did Hutton show change in mental or physical character?—Not that I noticed. After that he was confined to the house. That was before he was sick. He was well for a short time. I can't say how many days it was a week or more. I don't know. I learned later that he was suffering from eczema.

Talked of New Home.

On those occasions when he did talk about different business, and one thing or another, he was a kind of adviser to me. "What do you mean by that?"—in the way of dealing. He had good judgment. I always consider it. How did his judgment seem to be with regard to these matters as compared to years before?—I noticed no difference.

Did he talk about the house that he was building at the corner of Fourth and Victoria avenue to you?—Yes. When he started in he was going to acquire $12,000 or $14,000, and later he saw that it was going to cost him more. He thought he was kind of knowing money any by building on expensive house.

You heard the evidence given by Dr. Woodrow, and certainly, what about Hutton's grand ideas about life in luxury and entertaining people?—His giving balls and dinner parties?—His never talking about that to me.

Continuing, the witness stated before the time the will was made the deceased had often mentioned the making of the will.

Did he ever tell you about having to work for a living?—No, he did not.

Is his own given in evidence that he used to talk about people chasing him, and being afraid of being put in the hospital?—Did you ever hear him mention any of these things?—No.

Witness added, "I recollect being telephoned for by Mr. Hutton in 1911, to the house at the time the deceased was taken sick, before the will was made. The day the will was signed was three days after I sat up with Hutton at night."

Nothing Unsettled in Position.

On the night that you were telephoned for did you have the door before going in the house?—I cannot remember. I never left the door to the house by the back door without ringing. When I went up to Hutton's room he was lying in bed, and there was nothing unusual about his position. He was quite healthy, but was not talking very much.

Was he talking incoherently?—Well, he would say nothing out of the way. I noticed that he was very lively sometimes, and he appeared to

Was he ill? (T 943) as Christmas?

Yes. Did you see him on the street between the time he stood the will and the new year?—Yes.

You recall the day of his death?—Yes. The court then adjourned.

Many Witnesses Called.

At the afternoon and night sittings there were about twenty witnesses called by the defense. They all gave evidence relative to the deceased's conduct.

John Harold, who knew Hutton from 1883 until the time of his death, stated he saw the deceased on January 28th, 1914, the day he died. He was in the market. They had a conversation together on that day. Hutton was in no way ill, and he saw no difference as far as deceased's memory was concerned, and his manner of speaking was just the same.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hagar, the witness stated Hutton was a careful farmer.

Was it a fact that he could not make any money on the farm?—There is nothing strange in that. I can't say.

George Skinner, a nephew of the deceased man's condition up till the time he was taken sick the last time, although they had seen him regularly.

A. G. McQueen and J. Watson were examined by Mr. Hagar regarding real estate deals and transactions made by Hutton.

FURTHER MEDICAL EVIDENCE GIVEN IN HUTTON CASE

Dr. Landry Expresses the Opinion Deceased Was Insane When He Signed Will

MAKES HIS DEPOSITIONS FROM EVIDENCE GIVEN

Case for Complainant Concluded and One Witness for Defense Examined

(From Evening Edition.)

The case now on trial in the Hutton will case concluded yesterday morning after the evidence of Dr. Landry had been given. The witness for the defence also was examined at the morning sitting.

The evidence of Dr. Landry, who was formerly neurologist at McGill and who has had much experience in insanity cases, served to corroborate the testimony of Dr. Woodrow, given yesterday. He stated that from the two previous witnesses' evidence he had arrived at the conclusion that Hutton before his death, was suffering from general paresis. From such a condition, a patient very rarely recovers, and personally he had never seen one do so. His authorities, however, admitted the possibility of recovery.

As to the will. The will of the deceased man was shown to the witness and he was asked by C. B. Bigger if he could state from hearing the evidence whether Hutton would be able to draw up a will like that at the time it was signed.

The witness replied that if the date of the will had been fixed as that upon which Dr. Woodrow was very early in the morning to see Hutton when he was in active delirium, he would be very skeptical regarding the man's ability to make a will of that kind.

Mr. Bigger—There are two things I would like to impress on you. You did hear the evidence of Dr. Woodrow, who stated that at 9 o'clock on the morning the will was signed the deceased exhibited mental aberration and indicated on inability to distinguish between right and wrong, and immediately after the will was signed by Hutton, he was taken to the hospital. He was not present when the will was signed, which gave her the impression that he did not know what he was doing. # A VIRGIN FISHING AREA DISCOVERED IN HUDSON STRAITS

The Possibilities of Salmon Catch Rival That of British Columbia

NO LIMIT TO QUANTITY OF CODFISH AVAILABLE

Season Short But Eskimos Can Be Secured Who Are Practiced Fishermen

(From Evening Edition.)

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—A new and virgin fishing area, rich in the possibilities not only of the millions it may produce, but also of the employment it will afford the native population of the surrounding country, has been found in the waters of the Hudson Strait, according to a report which has been made to the marine and fisheries department by Dominion Fisheries Officer Tanner. It is salmon catch, particularly, yet may rival that of British Columbia.

Mr. Tanner made an official patrol of the region from the fall of 1912 to the present year. He reports that "the waters of Hudson Strait, so far as fisheries are concerned, may be regarded as a virgin area, and though no thorough investigation of these resources has yet been made, the result of my investigations show there are supplies of valuable fish which could be made of great market value and are well worth development. The difficulties to be encountered are the sparse population and the lack of fishermen, and the short season, which would involve all of our work being done in a short time."

Chief British Columbia. These difficulties can easily be overcome, says Mr. Tanner, and he proposes this by citing the case of British Columbia, which, in spite of its former limited population and short season, could now boast of a salmon catch of over $100,000,000.

From a commercial standpoint, he observed, "the cod is the most important fish and there is no regular cod fishery being carried on. There is no limit to the quantity of codfish, a few loads of which are gathered by Newfoundland vessels, which come every year. The weather is perfect for fishing, but not so favorable for drying them on the spot. The catches, however, can be raised down and taken home to the curing places just as is the practice of the salmoning fleet. As this is done, fishing, no doubt a bounty could be authorized during the first few years when the industry is in the first stages of development. The sum of $100,000 per annum is available.

WIRELESS MAD AFTER REPUBLIC DISASTER

(From Evening Edition.)

New York, Dec. 15.—The world was wireless mad after the 88th Republic disaster, five years ago, in which Jack Hays figured as a hero. It was a disaster of a very unusual kind, and the radio wireless telegraph company as a result was swamped with orders for stock, according to testimony given by James H. Hays, who was in the city at the time.

Mr. Hays, who was in the city at the time, testified that he had been in the city at the time of the disaster, and that he had seen the stock of the company being sold. He said that the stock was sold at a price of $100,000,000, and that the company was worth $100,000,000.

BLACKMAILER OF PICKPOCKETS

New York Produces the New Thing in Crime—Is East Side Blackmail

(From Evening Edition.)

New York, Dec. 15.—According to police officials of this city, Herman Amos, the East Side blackmailer, is the inventor of a new method of blackmailing pickpockets, and others, and is anxious to come in contact with the police. Since last September Amos has caused the arrest of three men on the charge that they had robbed him. Though able to identify each of the three, he refused to identify the man who had robbed him. He claimed that he had made a mistake.

Amos was arrested today on the charge that he had robbed a man of $15,000. He was held in custody, and is being held in custody. He was held in custody, and is being held in custody. He was held in custody, and is being held in custody.

STRING OF PEARLS WORTH $275,000.00 RESTORED TO OWNER

Lady of French Nobility Who Lost Them Three Years Ago
Made Happy

WEALTHY FINDER CONCEALS IDENTITY

Returns Jewels at Servant's Entrance and Receives Reward of $1,000

Paris, Dec. 18.—A large row of pink pearls, worth $275,000, belonging to a well known lady of the old French nobility, has been restored after three years after she lost it at the skating rink. The man who returned the pearls is apparently rich, but has taken the most elaborate precaution to conceal his identity.

The lady's lawyer was approached by another attorney who said he had an unknown client who had offered to restore the pearls.

"I make these conditions, however," said the stranger. "I shall bring the pearls into the house at the servant's entrance at a time when all the servants are out and shall hand the pearls through a crack in the door. I shall receive the $1,000 reward which was offered and which I intend for charity, and when I leave the house I shall not be followed or shadowed in any way."

These curious conditions were fulfilled. All the servants in the lady's household were sent out while she, with her husband, her lawyer and a jeweler, who was to identify the pearls, waited in a closed room. Suddenly a step was heard outside, the door opened a few inches and a well-gloved hand was thrust through the opening. In the fingers gleamed the long lost pearls. The jeweler took the gems and identified them. The bank notes were thrust into the waiting hand. The door then closed and the mysterious stranger hurried down the stairs. A few seconds later, a powerful motor car was heard to drive off, and the finder of the pearls vanished with his secret.

UNCLE JOE CANNON FAILURE AT POKER; HE QUILTS THE GAME

Amusing Story From Washington Concerning the Old War Horse

Washington, Dec. 18.—"They wouldn't stand up for Uncle Joe Cannon Tuesday night.

Some of his former colleagues in the House had arranged a session at the national game—not baseball—for the old warhorse, of stand pat, and he renewed his youth from shortly after ten o'clock until all along in the morning. Every time Uncle Joe tried to get away with a trick, a rule was put over his head and he was compelled to take a look at "three small ones." His fingers were not steady and his "retaliate" had kinks in them, and after a seven hour session in the big game, where the blues were worth a dime and the chocolate drops stood for a quarter, the former speaker coughed up $10.18 in currency and withdrew in disgust.

His downfall broke up the game, and as the group was separating one of the other players took occasion to remark, "Well, Uncle Joe, for a man that has played draw poker for 15 years, you're pretty punk." To think of a man who sat in with John Quinn Adams putting up such a show at an exhibition as you have tonight."

Uncle Joe scratched his head and thought a minute. Then he drawled: "It's a lie; I never played poker with the boy. It was his father."

Suing for $10,000 For Slender.
Burlington, Ont., Dec. 18.—A writ for $10,000 damages for alleged slander was issued this morning by J. H. Bruhn, and Herbert Oakes, Burlington Hotel men. The defendant is J. H. Cleave, prominent lawyer and member of the council. The hotel man says Cleave made a statement about a ton of coal being bartered over a bar for whiskey. He denies it.

VALUABLE BLACK FOX MADE HER ESCAPE FROM WIRE CAGE

Lois Wender and William Rose, Who Brought to City Five Black and Silver Foxes, Lost the Most Valuable of the Catch Near Grouard

What is probably as valuable a lot of foxes as has come out of the north country so far this season was those brought into the city yesterday by Messrs. Louis Wender and William Rose, who secured the animals through Pease River Crossing and Fort Vermilion. The lot included two black, two silver gray and one cross fox, and was disposed of to a firm on McGill avenue for a sum well up in the four figures, though none of the gentlemen interested would say the exact amount.

Messrs. Wender and Rose are the first travelers from the north to report sufficient snow for sleighing, they having made a part of their journey between Fort Vermilion and the Crossing by sleigh, though at times it was very soft and slushy, the average temperatures in that district having been even higher than at

"GROWN UP" SENDS ARTFUL APPEAL TO THE UNITED AIDS

Ma "Up Against It," Asks for Pair of Shoes for His Daughter

SMALL CONTRIBUTORS WILL NOT DISCLOSE IDENTITY

Appeal is Made Not Only for Christmas But for Next Year

United Aids—it has always been my desire to help the poor anywhere I have been on Christmas. But this time I am in as poor a position as any one. Have been here four months and ask all the time, and my wife is sick in bed. Have a little girl that is going to be 2 years old. If you can send her a pair—and if you happen to have a pair of trousers, $2.00—would appreciate these gifts very much.

An up against it and am depending on others for food.

Such is one of the letters to Santa Claus penned by a "grown up," which the United Aids received at their headquarters yesterday. A man, styling himself a friend, walked into the old Deacon Whyte place today and handed the ladies twenty-five dollars. He belongs to the calibre believing in silent charity. His name he refused to disclose, and with the assurance of "haunting up" the United Aids again next year, he went his way.

The Women's Council are anxiously awaiting other such generous donations, as every day brings more cases of poignant need.

"Must we assume, for the hill all the way. Yes, to the very end," might be said of this work. The public is asked to bear in mind that the Christmas effort is not a mere sporadic outburst of charity at all. The surplus will be used throughout the year to care for those in the city who have drifted to the lee shore, with very little hope of regaining open water.

The United Aids do not wish to make another appeal until Yuletide twelve months hence, and they anxiously solicit those who wish to give contributions to—how do you say—do so.

NO INQUIRY INTO HIGH COST OF LIVING

Federal Government May Try to Evade Responsibility in This Question

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—The Evening Journal (Conservative) says: "The federal government is not making a real attempt to inquire into the causes of the high cost of living."

The addition is vouchsafed that the causes are well enough known and that the government is not making an attempt to inquire into the causes of the high cost of living."

"Nobody believes," it is argued, that the removal of such a small import duty would make any difference in the retail price of these commodities. It is contended that the labor department is constantly in touch with the situation regarding the cost of living. An inquiry is constantly in progress and it is possible that the scope of this inquiry may be widened."

Liquor Traffic in North.
Regina, Sask., Dec. 18.—Power of proclamation to prohibit the importation of liquor into the northern part of the northern hinterland will be vested in the lieutenant-governor in council under the terms of an amendment to the liquor license act carried in committee today.

Who Will Succeed to the Papal Chair?
Rome, Dec. 18.—The death of Cardinal Rampolla is causing considerable discussion concerning the succession to the papacy. There are a number of curious predictions regarding the next Pope and it is most unusual mission in overcoming the existing difficulties in the pressure of the faith.

Cardinal Rampolla, when Mr. McRae saw him, appeared perfectly well and full of vigor.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 17.—Selling that its net earnings will show a decrease of $100,000 this year, the American Express Company today appealed to the tax commission to lower its tax assessment conform to new conditions. Counsel cited that the stock of the company, which sold two years ago at $257, and a year ago at $164, is now at par, and said the post system contributed largely to bringing about this condition.

Concrete Bridges Artistic -- Economical -- Durable

Before deciding on any form of construction for your new bridges, you owe it to yourself and to your community to investigate the merits of concrete.

The important requirements of any material for bridge work are fully and economically met by concrete, as is shown in the following paragraphs:

Adaptability

Concrete may be moulded into almost any form, therefore, its use is particularly advantageous in bridge work necessitating special construction. Its great strength, economy and permanence, combined with its almost unlimited possibilities in obtaining artistic effects, place concrete on a plane that destined it to become the ultimate standard for bridge construction.

Reserve Strength and Reliability

Concrete increases in strength with age. Instead of growing weaker as time passes, its powers of resistance become greater. Good concrete a year old is 45 per cent. stronger than the same concrete only a month old, and the strength increases constantly thereafter. Unlimited confidence can be placed in concrete structures properly built.

Durability

Concrete bridges built in Rome upwards of 2,000 years ago are still standing, but little impaired by time. Some 75 miles below the city of Mexico a concrete bridge, consisting of two 40 ft. spans, built in the early part of the sixteenth century—about 400 years ago—is now being used as a railway bridge.

Stability

These instances and many others of like character are the best evidence of the durability of concrete. The weight of a concrete bridge is so great in comparison to the loads to be supported that the vibration, caused by the rapid passage of moving loads, is almost imperceptible. The deflection in any all-concrete bridge is so small that it cannot be determined except by the most precise measurements.

Local Distribution of Expenditure

This item is of greatest importance to any community. If other material than concrete is used in your bridges the bulk of the expenditure goes out of your district. By using concrete, practically all of the cost is returned to the ratepayers for cement, sand, stone or gravel, lumber, teams and labor.

Low Cost of Maintenance

Concrete bridges that have been properly designed and constructed require no maintenance, except on the roadway, such as is common to all bridges. They cannot deteriorate—on account of rust or corrosion caused by water, acids or smoke—and they never require painting.

Total Cost

The total cost of a bridge can only be determined by adding to the initial cost the cost of maintenance during the life of the bridge. Concrete reduces the cost of upkeep to a minimum, thereby making the first cost practically the only cost. The first cost of a concrete bridge, however, is approximately the same as that of any other bridge constructed of first class materials, and as the maintenance is much less, the total cost is consequently reduced to a minimum.

Economy to Ratepayers

The superior qualities of concrete for bridge construction appeal strongly to engineers, but they will appeal more strongly to the ratepayers of your community. It is not only the initial cost that must be paid by the ratepayers, but the final cost as well. They must assume the burden of every cost connected with all public works. If the upkeep and repair costs are high, they must pay; if low, they save money. Hence it is the ratepayers who receive the greatest service from a concrete bridge, for they have a bridge that is artistic, giving a greater beauty to the locality, and at the same time durable; so that they are not continually asked to spend money to keep it up. They receive the greatest direct benefit.

That concrete is adapted to long bridges, with large spans, as readily as to the side road culvert, is shown by the immensity of the bridges enumerated here:

Name	Location	Length	Place	Length
Lois Street Bridge	Spokane, Wash.	281 ft.	Texas	4,776 ft.
Bellevue Ave. Bridge	Pittsburgh, Pa.	675 ft.	Delaware	12,465 ft.
Bellevue Ave. Bridge	Pittsburgh, Pa.	675 ft.	Vermont	5,248 ft.
Kings Highway Viaduct	St. Louis, Mo.	2,008 ft.	Alaska	10,000 ft.
Bellevue Ave. Viaduct	St. Louis, Mo.	2,008 ft.

We have collected most complete information about concrete bridges and will be pleased to send any interested citizen this information without charge, including details as to location, cost, engineers, contractors, etc. Address

WHO WILL SUCCEED TO THE PAPAL CHAIR

The Death of Cardinal Rampolla Causes Discussion of Succession

Rome, Dec. 18.—The death of Cardinal Rampolla is causing considerable discussion concerning the succession to the papacy. There are a number of curious predictions regarding the next Pope and it is most unusual mission in overcoming the existing difficulties in the pressure of the faith. Cardinal Rampolla, when Mr. McRae saw him, appeared perfectly well and full of vigor. Madison, Wis., Dec. 17.—Selling that its net earnings will show a decrease of $100,000 this year, the American Express Company today appealed to the tax commission to lower its tax assessment conform to new conditions. Counsel cited that the stock of the company, which sold two years ago at $257, and a year ago at $164, is now at par, and said the post system contributed largely to bringing about this condition.

Quebec, Dec. 17.—The little village of Saint Charles is bound to disappear if Colonel A. St. Rost succeeds in his scheme of damming the big river at the head of the famous rapid named Grande De Chert. St. Rost has been to Châteauguay lately and has made all necessary arrangements with the local authorities for the expropriation of the church, priests' house and Catholic school of plots of land to be covered by the Saginaw water after the construction of the Grande De Chert dam. Colonel Scott, who has already done much for the industrial and farming development of the region, has succeeded in organizing a syndicate of English, French and Canadian capitalists to start the construction of progressive paper industries of the province. Over $4,000,000 was spent in damming the river and the erection of a big pulp and paper plant.

BOOT-LEGGER SHOT BY MARSHAL'S POSSE

Refusing to Surrender Bonner Springs, Kansas Man Riddled With Bullets

Bonner Springs, Kas., Dec. 18.—Holla Harvey, an alleged boot-legger, was killed and two children in three rooms of here today, when a posse of fifteen men surrounded the City Hall building, on the second floor of which Harvey was suspected of operating a "joint."

More than fifty shots were fired.

A Chinaman saw the accident occur, but ran away when he saw the wagon going over Emmens, and the master was not reported to the police for several minutes after it occurred. The man who witnessed the accident states that the deceased was walking down the street when the tailboard came out, and some of the coal fell on the street. Without stopping the team, Emmens who did not notice the tail-board, had fallen. While endeavoring to throw it on the wagon he slipped and the hind wheel went over his head. The body was taken to Connely's McKittrick's undertaking parlors, where it was viewed by the coroner. There will be no inquest, however, as there is no doubt as to the cause of death. Emmens was about thirty years of age. He was married and had one child.

WANTS ENBAROO OFF

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—G. F. O'Halloran, deputy minister of agriculture of Canada, arrived here yesterday to be present at a meeting of the day at the Department of Agriculture on the question of modifying the department's embargo on potatoes from Ireland and certain European countries.

Mr. O'Halloran, who has been in this country for some time, will be present also, and other countries which have potatoes to sell will have representatives from their legations present at the hearing. The question to be considered is whether the present quarantine board shall allow the importation of potatoes, as it does of trees and shrubs, provided they have been examined abroad by experts and declared to be free from infectious diseases.

NO LACROSSE TRIPS

LONDON, DEC. 18.—The North of England Lacrosse Association has resolved that it is not desirable at present for a Canadian team to visit or an English team to visit Canada.

PUBLIC PRAYERS FOR

FLORIST SETTLEMENT

LONDON, DEC. 17.—The Bishop of London has received from the Rev. Dr. G. H. Green a request to be authorized to have public prayers in their churches for a remedial settlement of the issue between the people of the east and the rest of Ireland over the home rule bill. It is expected that the bishop will consent and that the last day of the year will be chosen.

TEAMSTER KILLED BY LOAD OF COAL

Jao. C. Emmens Has Head Crushed Under Wheels of Wagon Loaded With Coal

(From Evening Edition.)

Lying at the corner of Kirkman street and Spruce avenue, John C. Emmens, a teamster, in the employ of the Hurlst Lumber Yard, was found yesterday morning at eleven with the top of his head completely severed and his brain scattered over the road. The unfortunate man, it would appear, was run over by a wagon containing about a ton of coal, and although no one was actually there at the time, death must have been instantaneous.

A Chinaman saw the accident occur, but ran away when he saw the wagon going over Emmens, and the master was not reported to the police for several minutes after it occurred. The man who witnessed the accident states that the deceased was walking down the street when the tailboard came out, and some of the coal fell on the street. Without stopping the team, Emmens who did not notice the tail-board, had fallen. While endeavoring to throw it on the wagon he slipped and the hind wheel went over his head. The body was taken to Connely's McKittrick's undertaking parlors, where it was viewed by the coroner. There will be no inquest, however, as there is no doubt as to the cause of death. Emmens was about thirty years of age. He was married and had one child.

$5,500,000 Required By City For Capital Expenditures In 1914

This Amount Is Total of Estimates of the Various Departments for Next Year—Debtors Issue Will Aggregate Seven Millions—Biggest Single Expenditure Is for Sewers

Judging by the estimates submitted by the various departments for capital expenditures, the city's bill under this head for 1914 will approximate five and a half millions of dollars. This, with the million and a half worth of debentures remaining unsold from this year, will make next year's debenture issue reach the seven-million mark—just four millions of dollars less than the council of 1913 had to call for.

Mayor-elect McNamara attended an informal meeting of the city commissioners yesterday at which the estimates for 1914 were considered. This is said to be a preliminary step behind the scenes for the new mayor, in order that he may gain an insight into the city's needs for next year before he actually steps into office.

As usual, the engineer's department has the heaviest estimate for next year. There is asked an appropriation of over one million dollars for sewer work alone. This includes the trunk sewer work to be done on the South Side next season.

During this year, Edmonton laid twenty miles of paving, more than any other city in Canada, it is claimed by the city engineer. The program for street paving for next year is said to be the greatest the city has ever planned to lay only about fifteen miles next season. About twelve miles of concrete sidewalks were laid this year and about the same amount will be done next year.

The street railway department has to get along next year with practically no capital expenditures. The sum of $10,000 will be asked for this year, as compared with more than a million dollars last year.

The power plant will have quite a heavy outlay, needing in the neighborhood of about half a million dollars, according to present plans. The telephone department will be a small borrower, its capital outlay not running much more than $100,000.

It is expected the electric light and waterworks departments will ask for about the same amount as last year.
